

PULMONARY FIBROSIS (PF) SUPPORT GROUP

The American Lung Association of Washington offers a support group especially for people with fibrotic lung diseases. This group has been meeting for over 15 years and provides a wealth of information in a friendly, supportive environment.

The group offers:

- *An opportunity to meet others with PF or other fibrotic lung diseases.
- *A forum for health care professionals to present information about our condition.
- *A chance to ask questions and share experiences.

Meetings are held from 1:00—3:00 p.m. on the last Tuesday of each month. We will be starting up again in September with our meetings alternating between the University of Washington Medical Center and the office of the American Lung Association of Washington. The meeting schedule for 2008-2009 is listed below. We welcome you, your families, and concerned friends.
